

CAMPAIGN ON RATS IN CITY IS SUCCESSFUL

THOUSANDS OF RODENTS HAVE BEEN KILLED IN A FEW WEEKS

More than 1,000 rats have been reported killed thus far in the rat extermination program recently, and it is expected that many more thousands will die. Greencastle is one of few cities in central Indiana to carry this program through so wholeheartedly, but there still remains work to be done, explained Jack Davis, city rat inspector.

Now that the rat extermination campaign is complete in Greencastle, it behooves Greencastle citizens and merchants to make every effort to do a thorough job of rubbish and garbage removal so as to prevent rats from reinfesting properties, urged Mr. Davis today.

Control of disease-spreading rats in Greencastle requires that better care be taken of food products as well as garbage. All citizens are urged to make "clean garbage cans" a goal in the rat control program. No pest in existence affects a greater number of people than the rat; yet losses by rats have been sustained for so long that commonly they have been taken for granted. But in the present day of rigid accounting and efficiency, the time is rapidly approaching when the constant drain through rat depredation will no longer be tolerated.

Let's keep Greencastle on the march and get rid of Public Enemy No. 1, the rat. Do your part today.

VETERANS' OFFICE IS BEING KEPT BUSY

The Veterans Administration Central Office at 12 South Jackson street in Greencastle was established to offer a convenient local service to veterans in filing their claims for benefits. Since opening August 1, 55 veterans of Futnam and surrounding counties have asked for information and filed claims for pensions, hospitalization, medical treatment, insurance and the education benefits available to veterans of World War II. In most cases, it is possible for the veteran to complete his application for benefits during his first visit.

STORAGE CONDITIONS EFFECT CANNED TOMATOES

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Aug. 17.—(INS)—Miss Lois Oberhelman, Purdue University extension nutritionist, advised housewives today that storage conditions, as well as canning methods, have a lot to do with the amount of vitamin C contained in a jar of home canned tomatoes.

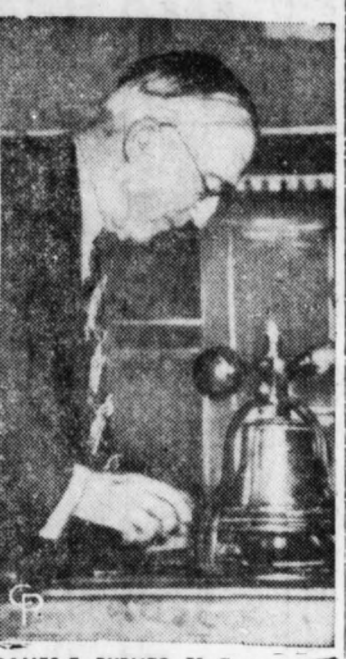

Miss Oberhelman said that vitamin C values remain considerably higher during storage if the canned tomatoes are stored in a cool room. Original color and flavor are retained at home fully when a cool storage room is used, she added.

Tin cans help to retain more vitamin C than do glass jars according to results of research work done by nutrition experts. The Purdue specialist points out that it is important to preserve as much of the original vitamin C as possible during the canning process. Allowing the tomatoes to ripen, then observing the rule, "two hours from garden to can," will aid in keeping the original vitamin value.

STATE POLICE TO ATTEND TESTS

INDIANAPOLIS August 16.—Col. Austin R. Killian, state police superintendent, today announced 28 city and state policemen will attend a chemical tests for intoxication school here next week as part of a direct action program to combat drunken driving.

Fourteen state policemen participating in the program include Troopers Frank Wallace, of LaPorte, and Edward Buchanan, of Valparaiso, Dunes Park post; Troopers Elton Boney, of Peru, and Robert L. Fortner, of Terre Haute, Ligonier post; Trooper Robert Kelley, of Frankfort, Lafayette post; Trooper Joseph Mendenhall, of Marion, Pendleton Post; Troopers Osborn, of Rushville, and Marion Tague, of Greencastle, Connersville post; Troopers Lawrence Conway, of Brownstown, and Oliver Leighton, of Valonia, Seymour post; Sgt. Herschel Mow, of Rochester, and Trooper Robert W. Miller, of Evansville, Jasper post; Trooper Arthur Peterson and Corporal Elmer Paul, of Indianapolis, Headquarters post.

Held at the Indiana University School of Medicine, classes will extend through the week of Aug. 19. Officers will be quartered at Ft. Benjamin Harrison. Directing the school is Dr. Rolla N. Harger, Indiana university professor of biochemistry, and inventor of the Drunkenmeter. Robert F. Brockenstein, chief technician of the state police laboratory, will assist.

City police departments will include Anderson, Goshen, Frankfort, Elkhart, East Chicago, Franklin, Shelbyville, Terre Haute and Indianapolis. Capt. Edgar F. Isaacs, Jr., of the Delaware State Police also will attend.

Large Crowd At Reelsville

The second evening of the Reelsville homecoming on Friday was a huge success as was the Thursday night meeting. The big auction sale was the highlight of the evening. All the goods sold at the auction had been donated and the proceeds went to the Washington Township school. The band and other performers entertained the crowd during the evening.

Saturday night is the final of the big homecoming event and a still larger crowd is expected than on other evenings.

CONFERENCE MEETING LEADS TOWARD TILTS

RUSSIA AND WESTERN POWERS DISAGREE OVER AUSTRIA'S REQUEST

PARIS, Aug. 17.—(UP)—The peace conference headed full tilt today toward two clashes between Russia and the western powers over Austria's request for a hearing and the Soviet effort to limit French voting powers.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain was expected to make his first conference speech during the morning plenary session, supporting the Austrian request. V. M. Molotov may deliver the Soviet reply.

Later, the Russians may take their campaign against French voting rights in the Balkan and Finnish treaty commissions before the plenary session. American officials revealed that the United States will throw its entire strength into the battle against Soviet efforts to eliminate the French vote. The United States will not, however, make any effort to obtain for herself a voting seat on the Finnish treaty commission. Russia announced yesterday that she opposed letting the United States vote in the Finnish commission because there was no America declaration of war against Finland.

Summer Meet Opens Monday

The Association of College Admissions Counselors will hold their annual summer meeting in Holland, Mich., August 19 to 22, according to Willard E. Umbreit, secretary of admissions at De Pauw University and president of the group. The Association, which represents 65 colleges and universities in the Middle West, will meet at the Waukazoo Inn in Holland, and Holland's Hope College is host to the group.

Considering problems concerning the admission of students in colleges and universities today, the association will hear 16 speakers, seven of whom will give the main lectures for the conference.

Main speakers include J. Fred Murphy, state supervisor, division of vocational education, Indiana Department of Education; Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, president of Hope College; Marshall Hulbert, director of admissions, Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis.; Mrs. Mary H. Farrell, senior advisor, Taft High School, Chicago; C. C. Taggart, assistant supervisor of schools, Maywood, Ill.; Miss Lois Waterman, director of curriculum, East Grand Rapids H. S., Mich.; Dr. Edward L. Clark, university examiner, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Officers of the association besides President Umbreit are Hubert Petrie, Monmouth College, vice-president, and Robert Amaden, director of admissions, Lake Forest College, secretary-treasurer.

CHEMICAL SCHOOLS FOR STATE POLICE

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—(INS)—A chemical test for intoxication school will be conducted in Indianapolis as part of a state program in combating drunken driving.

Austin R. Killian, state police superintendent, said 28 city and state policemen will attend the school. Dr. Rolla N. Harger, Indiana University professor of biochemistry, will conduct the school. He will be assisted by Robert F. Gorkenstein, chief technician of the state police laboratory.

Members of the city police departments will attend from Anderson, Goshen, Frankfort, Elkhart, East Chicago, Franklin, Shelbyville, Terre Haute and Indianapolis.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(INS)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor was on record today in support of the newly organized Maritime Trades Department.

BISHOP OXNAM WILL GO TO KNOXVILLE

MEREDITH, N. H., Aug. 17.—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, said today he intended to keep a speaking engagement in Knoxville, Tenn., despite "what he termed an attempt to prevent him from appearing there."

The bishop said he had heard of a published report in Knoxville, linking his name to several allegedly Communist organizations. Describing this as "perfectly absurd" he said that he knew nothing about several of the organizations listed.

Bishop Oxnam said he was scheduled to address the East Tennessee Education Association at Knoxville on Nov. 1.

Boy On 'Whizzer' Has Broken Limb

The first serious accident to come from youngsters riding motor scooters around the city, took place late Friday when Jimmy McMillan hit a parked car on south Indiana street and was thrown from his "whizzer." He suffered a broken leg and was sent to the Putnam County hospital for repairs.

It was said that the youngster was following a car south at the time of the accident and he did not see the car parked ahead of the machine he was following and when he cut around the moving car he hit the parked one. In addition to the broken leg, he suffered cuts and bruises from hitting the pavement. He was sent to the hospital in the McCurry ambulance.

WITHDRAW SUIT FOR INJUNCTION

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—(UP)—A CIO union today withdrew its suit for a temporary injunction against the use of state police and state guardsmen in a labor dispute, but said it would continue its fight for permanent injunction.

Judge Robert C. Baltzell of federal court set Sept. 24 for the hearing on the United Electrical, Radio and Machine workers' petition.

The U-E accused Governor Gates and other state officials conspired "to deprive workers of their constitutional rights to disseminate information and picket peacefully" when state troopers and guardsmen were ordered to Connersville recently in a dispute at the Rex manufacturing company.

CIO Campaign Against Policy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(UP)—A CIO campaign to increase "real wages" today threatened a head-on collision with President Truman's wage-price stabilization program, and may lead to widespread strikes in the mass production industries in 60 to 90 days.

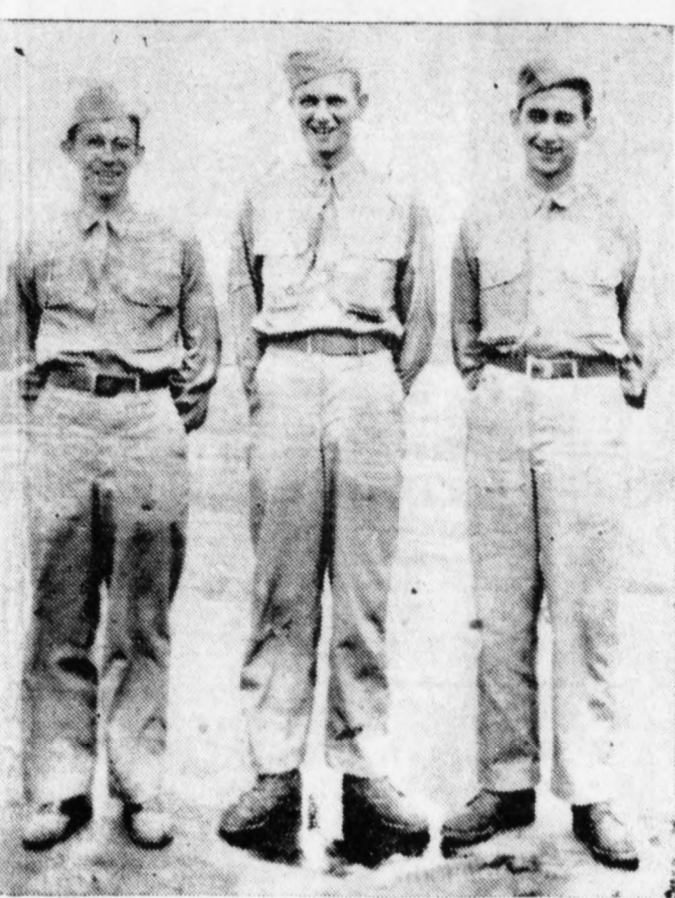

CIO President Philip Murray said the campaign also would "reach the ballot box in every American precinct" in the November elections.

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers (CIO), may set the course for the new CIO policy which was adopted at a national emergency conference of 300 top union leaders here yesterday. Reuther said his executive board in a special session here would call for reopening the union's contracts on wages.

"In the automobile industry, we are going to take advantage of clauses permitting reopening of contracts on wages," Reuther said. "We are going to do it to be in position to protect ourselves on the wage front if the government doesn't give us the protection we need on the price front."

Reuther said that this did not mean "a heater-skelter of strike action." He said the action is one of preparedness if the Truman administration fails to roll back prices of essential foodstuffs to their June 30 level.

He joined the CIO conference in demanding the administration do this job in 30 days or scrap its wage stabilization program.

Seek To Stop All Strikes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—The CIO set out today to clean up all its current strikes and avoid others before the November elections to help win its fight for strict controls and a congress more favorable to labor.

CIO president Philip Murray, president Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers (CIO), and other union leaders turned their attention to this task as a follow-up to the CIO's new drive against price rises.

Murray scheduled a meeting with Reuther, president Albert Fitzgerald of the United Electrical Workers, and Grant Oakes of the United Farm Equipment workers to discuss steps to end the six to eight months strikes at nine plants of the J. I. Case and Allis-Chalmers Farm Equipment Companies. All three unions are involved in the walk-outs.

One result may be a personal appeal from Murray to presidents of the two strike-bound companies for conferences to iron out the dispute and get 25,000 CIO members back at their jobs. Murray arranged another conference also for an undisclosed purpose with Reuther, Fitzgerald and presidents L. S. Buckmaster of the United Rubber Workers, and John Green of the Marine and Shipyard Workers. Reuther said it involved "only a routine CIO matter."

REINFORCE HARBOR FOR JEW TRANSFER

JERUSALEM, Aug. 17, (UP)—British warships and troops reinforced Haifa harbor today for the second "Operation Cypress" while the Hagana underground radio sounded a stand-by call for the Jewish population to protect the 1300 intended deportees.

An explosive atmosphere dominated Haifa, intensified by the impending second transfer of illegal Jewish immigrants to Cyprus and the death sentences imposed on 18 Jewish youths for sabotaging the railroad yards. The second deportation operation was expected within 24 hours.

Latest Wire Flashes

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—(INS)—The threatened walkout of 8,000 Southern Pacific Company employees scheduled for Wednesday night had been indefinitely postponed today.

The National Mediation Board said President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen postponed the strike order to permit the parties to attempt a settlement.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—(INS)—An increase of 74 cases in the last 24 hours brought Minneapolis's infantile paralysis toll today to 1,326 cases with 90 deaths already reported.

Of the new cases, 20 were in Minneapolis and seven in St. Paul.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—(UP)—Fair weather for the St. Louis area was forecast by the other bureau today as extensive damages caused by recent torrential rains were revised step by step upward.

Occasional thunderstorms were predicted for last night, but did not materialize. The forecast was welcomed by residents of the area as they started to repair damage to their homes and businesses.

Damage to property and crops was expected to exceed $3,000,000.

Flash floods, caused by the heaviest downpour in the 100-year history of the St. Louis weather bureau, made more than 2,000 families homeless in the area, halted some industrial operations, and resulted in possibly two deaths.

The total rainfall since Monday in St. Louis was 14.97 inches, highest on record.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—(INS)—A Soviet radio commentator assailed the economic merger of the British and American zones of Germany today as the "first step toward the formation of an anti-Soviet western bloc."

The commentator, Mikhail Mikhalov, did not add that the British and Soviets were also invited to join this economic union.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(UP)—Hindu-Muslim rioting in the streets of Calcutta has killed 200 persons and injured more than 2,000, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the Indian city reported today.

CAN WHILE YOU CAN

"World-wide food shortages still threaten the lives of hundreds of millions of people," Willard Sunkel, Chairman of the Putnam County Chapter of the American Red Cross, stated today. "According to the United States Department of Agriculture, world food stocks have never been so low as they are at present. It is estimated by experts that the crisis will not be passed before the harvests of 1947," Mr. Sunkel said.

The President's Famine Emergency Committee and the American National Red Cross are working together to support this food preservation campaign, and to stock American pantries with home preserved food.

By preserving food at home, families can assure themselves of plenty in the face of rising food costs, and at the same time release foods to prevent starvation in other lands.

A good fruit and vegetable crop this season must not go to waste. A vast amount of food must be preserved at home to maintain a high standard of nutrition in spite of short supplies of bread, cereals and other foods. This will help to make more of the scarce foods available for the starving millions abroad, and will maintain economic security for American families in the face of rising costs.

"Food insurance" is needed this year. Needs for food are enormous and the processing industry is laboring under many difficulties and uncertainties. Wheat will be scarce for months to come, meaning less bread and cereals with our daily meals. To safeguard our diets, we shall need more of other foods. We must eat more vegetables this year to replace some of the food values and "filling" quality of the wheat that grows abroad.

SOME SUPPORT FOR TRUMAN'S JEWISH PLAN

PREDICT CONGRESS WILL RAISE IMMIGRATION QUOTAS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(UP) Some congressional sources indicated today they will back President Truman's plan to make this country a haven for a limited number of displaced Europeans, including Jews.

The small group of legislators remaining in Washington predicted that Congress will raise U. S. immigration quotas to permit entry to perhaps 50,000 homeless persons annually.

But they made it clear that any real solution for Europe's 1,000,000 displaced persons rests with international action, including settlement of the controversial Palestine issue.

Mr. Truman yesterday disclosed that he plans to ask Congress for special legislation to permit a "fixed number" of displaced wanderers to settle here. He added that a "fair solution" of the Palestine problem rests mainly between British government officials and Arab and Jewish leaders.

Strike Slows Ships In Lakes

TROIT, Aug. 17.—(UP)—The movement of vital supplies of ore, grain and oil on the Great Lakes was slowing to a halt today, in the third day of a strike by National Maritime Union (CIO) seamen demanding a 40-hour work week.

The NMU and the ship owners disagreed on the number of ships now tied up, but both sides agreed the number was growing.

The union said that 105 ships and 4,000 seamen were "idle in ports of the five lakes."

The lake carrier's association of ship owners at Cleveland said only 26 bulk freighters and 316 LCA ships were strike-bound. However, they had no figures available on 84 non-association ships.

A United Press survey of ports indicated that 56 ships were tied up, 14 ships at Detroit, one at Port Huron, Mich., two at Muskegon, Mich., five at Ashtabula, O., three at Cleveland, 14 at Chicago, three at Toledo, five at Duluth, five at Manitowish, Superior, Wis., one at Two Harbors, Minn., and three at Erie and Buffalo.

Joseph Curran, NMU president, predicted that 400 ships of American registry on the inland waterway would be tied up within a week if the owners did not agree to a reduction in the 56-hour week.

No new moves toward negotiation on the strike were reported since Curran yesterday notified the ship owners that he was ready to resume peace talks any time and any place.

TRAIN VETERANS AFFAIRS OFFICERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 17.—(INS)—William C. Stalnaker, director of the Indiana department of veterans' affairs, announced today a weeks training school for veterans' affairs officers.

The classes are to be held at the American Legion headquarters in Indianapolis beginning Monday, Aug. 26.

OUR CUSTOMERS ARE ENTITLED TO THE BEST SERVICE
WE CAN GIVE THEM!

"This business of maintaining dependable electric service is something that gets under your skin.

We see every day how important electricity is in hospitals, out on the farm, in factories and in city homes. We realize a lot of people are depending on men like us, and we just plain can't let people down. That's why you see our Public Service line crews working all kinds of hours, in all kinds of weather. In fact, the worse the weather, the more we're needed, and when storms or rain force lines down, we know it's up to us to get that service restored as quickly as we can.

There's a lot of satisfaction in work like ours, too. We feel like we're really helping folks get along when we keep their electricity flowing, and that's what the Public Service Company is in business to do—from the President of the Company on down. The way one of our gang puts it, we took on an obligation and a big responsibility—as well as a job—when we went to work for the people our Company serves.

We like it that way."

COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY

C. A. Newby

The background for his subject can be found in the book of Jeremiah, chapter 8 and verse 22. The text is found in the 20th verse of the same chapter: "The Harvest is past, the Summer is ended, and we are not saved."

The greatest question in time or eternity is that concerning life. All other values are subordinated to this value. When a man or neighbor passes away, the question that holds the family over all others is: "Was his life saved or was it not?" This inquiry may refer to both this world and the world to come. Regardless of how one dies, one thing we are certain: Christ made all provisions for the world might be saved and also every individual that is in the world.

It is heart-breaking to know that despite the fact that preparation has been made on the part of the death of our Lord, millions are yet unsaved. This text refers primarily to Israel and then spreads with meaning to every nation under heaven. This text has three natural divisions for us to consider:

First: The prophet states that there is a summertime. This is true not only in religion but it is true in every other field of thought. The wise farmer knows that it would be foolish to plant corn in November. Our school system capitalizes upon youth and do not wait until the children are grown before they educate them. There is a summertime to everything. Then, this being true in order to succeed in other fields, how much more important it is to observe the summertime, or the right time in regard to the soul. The individual who does the right thing at the right time will succeed. One may even fail in business and yet save his soul. He may have failing health and yet his soul be right with God. One might lose all his money, as many did, in the depression that followed the First World War, and yet have a mansion in the skies. However, for one not to observe the summertime, and fail spiritually, their failure will be both here and thereafter. The summer season is a limited season, it has a beginning and it has an end. It comes, but as sure as it comes, it will go. Jesus said, "Behold a sower went forth to sow." While the summertime is here will you not, let the Gospel seed find lodgment in your heart.

Second: The prophet also states that there is a harvest time. It is only natural that if good seed are sown on good ground, there should be a harvest. The good business man expects to reap some dividends from his investments. The farmer looks forward to the time when the seed which he has sown will bloom forth into a bountiful harvest. Should not God reap some dividends from those he has spent effort upon? God gave his only begotten son to die for us, is there not but, back to Him, something from your life and something from my life? The cow that fails to produce milk on the farm and becomes unprofitable, will find, some morning, a truck backed up to the barn door and she herself being hauled to the stock yards. She has become unprofitable to the owner. In St. John the 15th Chapter Jesus said in verse 8, "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit. He is speaking of the harvest time. Just as sure as the summertime can end, so also can the harvest time pass away. It is not only essential for one to get saved or to be born of God's spirit but it is important to get saved, in time, for God to get a harvest out of your life. If God would save an elderly man or woman, and He will, if they will repent and believe, it is true they are saved themselves, but what about that harvest that God could have reaped, if they had repented long ago and given Him the best out of their lives, instead of the leavings. If God could have had a harvest from them, he might have also saved their children. He might have saved their neighbor's children. If you would like to be profitable unto God, Jesus said, Go ye into my vineyard and labor and whatsoever is right I will give it unto you. Godliness is profitable both to the life that now is and also to the one that is to come. Don't let the harvest time pass away unless you have labored successfully.

In the third and last place the prophet also pointed to a hopeless time. Just as sure as the summer can end and the harvest can pass, just that sure the hopeless season will approach. It would be hopeless to plant garden in December for that is a hopeless time in this part of the country for garden making. A noted infidel cried out in his last moments, "My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me. There was a time that he was not forsaken but he let the summer end, the harvest pass and came to the forsaken and hopeless time. In the 25th Chapter of Matthew, it is recorded that the five foolish virgins neglected to get oil for their lamps and came to the hopeless time in which the doors were shut against them and the Master's voice was heard to say, "I know you not." Friend, please do not pass up all the advantages God gives and then come to such a plight. It is not the will of your heavenly Father that any should perish but that all should have eternal life.

In conclusion, Rev. Bona Fleming, a noted evangelist tells of a young lady who stood under the tent one night, with her gentleman friend. She was much moved by the message and the spirit of the meeting. She felt that it was her summertime to give her heart to God. However, she did not yield that night. Her father had been standing outside the tent and saw the whole performance. Now the tears had been running down her cheeks and how near she came to giving her heart to Christ. Because of this, he hurried home and was waiting for his beautiful daughter to arrive. When she did he threatened her and said if she ever went to that altar he would simply beat her unmercifully. She knew he meant what he said, so she went up stairs and prayed that the spirit might leave her. The next night they attended the meeting and the laughter and had no concern about her soul. Her father bragged about it, how he had won out. In about three weeks, the tent had been taken down and the harvest had passed. She came home from school seriously ill. The home physician was called and after a thorough examination he called the parents aside and told them there was no hope. She had let the summertime end, the harvest pass and now came the hopeless time. The fever was burning her body and a terrible thirst for water came. She asked her father to go back to the old house across the way to the old spring and get her one more drink of cold water, for said she, where I am going there will be no water to cool my parched tongue. The father went and returned with the water. He then asked her to pray but she said, father I can't pray. She soon died with a thirst that never will be quenched.

The prophet said: "The harvest is past, the Summer is ended, and we are unsaved." Accept your Saviour now before the harvest passes and the summer ends. Amen.

NEWS IN WORLD OF RELIGION

First American supplies to reach Korea from the Church World Service, representing the major Protestant relief agencies of the U. S. A., includes medicines and surgical instruments to rehabilitate seven hospitals set up by the C. W. S. within the zone occupied by the American army. Besides several hundred bales of clothing, the shipment contained 19 cases of ether, one million vitamin tablets, 275 cases of hospital instruments and dressings, and 18 cases of chaulmoogra oil for the treatment of leprosy.

country are seeking ways and means of putting returned GI's back into church and community service. . . . In St. Alban's Protestant Episcopal Church, Highland Park, Michigan, the veterans have organized a Young People's Fellowship, for single persons and married couples eighteen to thirty-five years of age. One of the groups first jobs was to soundproof a parish house room as a kindergarten, and to hold kindergarten classes there during the regular morning church hour. The Fellowship has secured and trained teachers for the lower grades in the church school, provides a choir for their numbers for the early morning communion service, and has taken charge of some regular church suppers. The Fellowship has sixty members.

The interdenominational "heifer project", initiated by the Church of the Brethren, and designed to help in relief and rehabilitation in Europe (especially in furnishing milk to children) is now being supported from a wide variety of sources. The Catholic Rural Life Association, and relief agencies of the Methodist Church, the Mennonite Church, the Baptist Church, and the Evangelical and Reformed Church are joining with the Brethren in furnishing heifers to ship overseas. Information may be obtained concerning the project from the Heifer Project committee, New Windsor, Maryland. A recent shipment of 350 young heifers went to Italy, and another carload will be sent to Poland. Experienced cattlemen from several churches are being recruited to care for the animals on the trip to Europe.

At Lakeside, Ohio, from September 3 to 6, "younger churchmen" from thirty-eight Protestant denominations will meet under the auspices of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America to "mobilize and train young men in the local churches over the country for more effective Christian leadership." The International Council of Religious Education and the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. will cooperate with the Federal Council in the program. Almost all the delegates will be laymen, and most of them will be ex-GI's. The Rev. Reuben W. Coleman is director of the conference. Speakers listed include: Bishop G. Bromley Oxman, Missionary Secretary Ralph E. Diederfer, Dr. Kirtley F. Mather of Harvard, Prof. Wilhelm Pauck of Chicago, Federal Council Secretary Roswell P. Barnes, motion picture executive Francis Harmon, Dr. Channing Tobias of the Phelps-Stokes Fund.

Since early this year, Ganta Mission of the Methodist Church in Liberia has been participating in public health work in its vicinity by keeping a team of locally trained technicians travelling through the country vaccinating the residents. Because a certain number of cases of smallpox had been reported, the District Commissioner appealed for help in handling the situation. Dr. George W. Harley, of Asheville, N. C., Methodist missionary physician, in his capacity as Officer of Health took the necessary steps. Special runners were sent to Monrovia at intervals to secure fresh vaccine, and the vaccinators were sent out through the towns and villages. More than 30,000 were inoculated during the first months of the year.

"It would be a colossal tragedy and denial of our faith if through extravagance, waste, or sheer selfishness we should permit others to go by way of starvation to their graves," says a message of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ, addressed to the homemakers of America, urging restrictions on the use of wheat products, fats, and oils. "If we are to fulfill our duties as Christian families, and especially if we are to teach the Christian way of life to our children by action as well as words, we must go far beyond mere token help to those who are starving. We must cut deeply into our resources at a time like this lest the act of selfishness cut into our souls. We recommend that each Christian family make and carry out in its own home some adequate plan for sharing in worldwide relief on a day by day basis. This would call for examination income and expenditures to see how much the family can possibly afford to give. It would cut down our luxuries and lead us to watch our necessities in order that others may not be deprived of the means of life."

OBITUARY

An invisible plume has again brushed across the path of the living, an unseen wing has rustled with the murmur of life and a voice whispered shortly after the shades of night had fallen over our little village and another loved one wandered down the long trail to the mansion that Jesus had prepared for him.

William Davis, only son born to Franklin and Sarah Margaret Alexander, was born in Monroe Co. near Bloomington, Indiana, August 2, 1862. He had not gone far on the journey of life when his mother was called away by death, at the age of 34 years, and the home was broken up leaving him and a baby sister 3 years old, relatives took the baby but for a time he lived with his father then he was taken by a family named Stephens. Here he received the love and care of a son, in early life he manifested the characteristics of courage, self reliance and ability to meet life as it came. When just a boy while working at a saw mill he met with an accident and lost his right hand. To a person less courageous this would have been a terrible blow but despite this handicap he was always jolly and industrious and did not seem to take life seriously. On reaching young manhood he secured a team and wagon and started out in the world alone. He traveled over Arkansas and other western states and on Jan. 22, 1892, he was united in marriage to Nora Owens of Mo. and to this union was born seven children, four sons and three daughters. Shortly after this marriage they took the wife's baby brother, Willie, and kept him until he was grown, he married and his wife lived only a short time. When his health began to fail, they again took him and cared for him until his death, for a time they lived in Mo. and about 48 years ago they moved to Bloomington, Ind., and in April, 1903, moved to Putnamville where he has lived ever since.

Soon after coming here he became section foreman on the Monon R. R. which position he retained until the State Farm was established some 30 years ago. He was among the first employed at that institution. Here he was faithful, dependable and congenial until failing health compelled him to retire after 25 years service. In all that time there was never a word of complaint of him, he was ever understanding, considerate, and kindly to the men working under him.

On June 29, 1935 the wife was called away and on Jan. 2, 1938, he was again united in marriage to Mrs. Belle Brown. He has been in failing health for the past 5 years and the devoted wife has cared for him with unflinching devotion. No task was too hard for her if she thought it was for his comfort or pleasure. His last days were spent in quiet and contentment.

While the family lived in Bloomington he united with the Christian church, but was not baptized until after he moved to Putnamville. He was baptized in the Baptist church at Greencastle by the Rev. D. D. Dodd and went into the Methodist church at Putnamville. He was a good husband and father and it was to provide the comforts of life for his loved ones that he worked unceasingly. He leaves to mourn his going, the grief stricken wife, three sons, Earl, Douglas and Raymond of Greencastle, two daughters, Mrs. Mae Cooper of Greencastle and Mrs. Mary Ren
